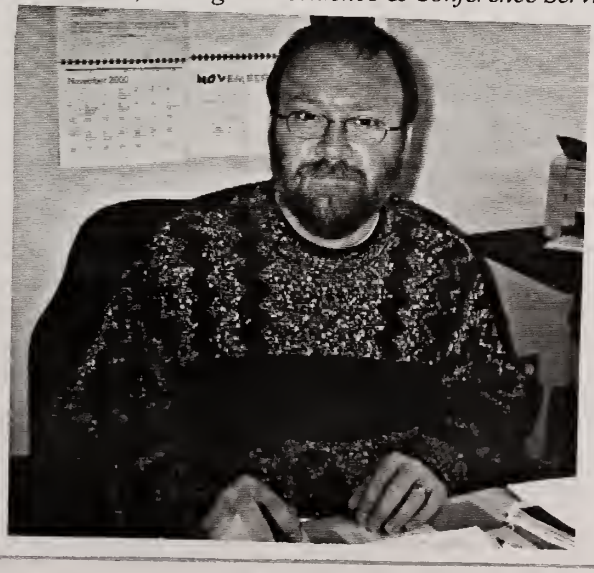
Once again I sit down to write a few words to be included in the Residence Year Book. Admiration is how I describe my feelings when referring to the many students who work so very hard to contribute to making an enjoyable experience for everyone living in Residence. Residence students are always getting involved! We have approximately one thousand students who live in Residence and nearly 25 percent of these students participate on various committees which contributes to the lifestyle in residence. Your presence is felt throughout Residence, across campus and throughout the City in numerous ways. Your voices are heard on Residence Food and Improvement Committees. Your assistance in the application of the rules and regulations in Residence are seen as you hear issues on the Discipline and Appeals Committees. Your social conscience is expressed on the S.U.D.S. and S.A.F.E. Committees. Many of you continue to further the presence of L.U. throughout the city by volunteering as mentors for organizations such as Big Brothers/Sisters or Scouts Canada, as coaches for various sports groups or as members who assist on various agencies such as Shineramma and United Way. It is with pride that I refer to our students in "Res." You will go far!

I am pleased to say that next fall will witness another returning residence student increase. We have not stood still as we adapt and modify to address your needs. We continue to modify our doubles into premium singles. We continue to develop a strong Residence Life program with the involvement of Billi Jo (Res Programmer) and Rory (President of Residence Council), with the assistance of RA and HP staff and with our past Residence Life Coordinator Norma Jean (good luck at Sir Sandford Fleming NJ, and you will be missed) and now with Shannon Foster our newly appointed Residence Life Coordinator.

This year has seen another considerable advancement with the return of Aramark as our food services provider. With this awarding of the contract came a complete overhaul of the Residence Cafeteria and Dan's Diner and an entirely new and enhanced meal plan program. Remember that Food rates have been frozen for next year for all returning students currently on the Meal Plan. We can be assured of new opportunities for years to come. Other exciting examples of "new at L.U." are the exterior lighting upgrades as identified in the September Night Safety Audit AND in response to you and your Residence Council's requests and considerable input, all Residence rooms will have telephone and INTERNET services included as part of the fees for Sept. 2001!!!

What an exciting year! We can only imagine what the future will bring us! I would like to take this opportunity to wish you all the best for both the immediate and the not too distant future. For those who are graduating, good luck in your career pursuits. For those who are coming back have a safe and happy summer. See you in the fall.

David G. Hare, Manager - Residence & Conference Services



It is with sadness that I write this yearbook entry at Lakehead University for it is my last. By the time of printing I will be at Sir Sandford Fleming College. I have been honoured to work with such wonderfully diverse students, staff, and faculty for the past 11 years. There have been many changes here and there and will be many exciting new things happening at Lakehead in the near future. I wish everyone the best in years to come and I am sure we will meet again.

Best Wishes,

Norma Jean Newbold

What a year this has been for me. The majority of it has been a year of change.

Change is good. There have been many changes in the Residence Structure and programming, as there will be more for the year to come. The position of Residence Programmer (my position) has been made somewhat "ehanced" so that I will be working full time next year. Yiipppeee....for those returning look out for very cool events and programs! Also, with the change, there was a sad transition, but positive one that I had to deal with. The departure of our very dear friend Norma Jean Newbold. She has been a great inspiration in my life, and I am forever greatful to have worked with and to love such an amazing person! With her departure comes the arrival of a new Residence Life Coordinator, Shannon Foster. He has some wonderful ideas and will add a whole new dynamic to Residence.

When pondering the past year, many important people come to mind. Those who have worked incredibly hard, there has been many emotions and feelings shared by this group. It has been a very challenging year for the leaders in residence, and they have become that much more incredible because of the hard times, the exhausting nights, the tears, joy, sadness, and the great times we have spent together. I would personally like to thank the RA's, they have been awesome in comforting and what wonderful bomb squad materlal they are ! This year has been very challenging for the RA team, but they held up, and actually because of their strong characters have made residence even better. With that, there is another strong person that I need to thank....David Hare. Behind the scenes he has worked double time, with early morning wake ups, to taking on extra work. Without David's support, the residence team would not have been so strong. A huge thank you to David's support team; Karen, Margaret (Peggy heehee), Vicki, Sari and the front office staff. And the very mostest people that I would like to thank are the awesome House Presidents. This year, they added a whole new aspect to House Presidency and made my job very unique.
They are a great group of individuals who have touched my heart in many aspects!
I enjoyed working with you all, and I look forward to working with you next year and just hanging out with you. You all made Residence a wonderful place for both myself and the residents of Lakehead University. Your houses are all very lucky to have had you !

With that said, I have had an amazing year, and I hope that you all have had the same amount of amazement. The University experience is such a rich and wonderful one, and I am proud to have been a part of your University experience.

" People love others not for who they are, but for how they make us feel"

Cheers,
Billy Cox

Yet another year passes.
New friends were made, to much money was spent but for your first year here at Lakehead, you wouldn't trade it for anything. From the exciting joys of leaving home for the first time to the tears of leaving your tiny room here at Res.

However, your first year of University was much more than just classes, assignments and stressful exams. It was a different experience for all of us. I can only hope that this book of pictures helps you remember all of these memories for many years to come.

In time you will pick this yearbook off the shelf, wipe the dust away and flip through it to bring, smiles, tears and most important that warm fuzzy feeling inside.

I couldn't have done this without my wonderful yearbook committee, your guys were the best!! Thank you for all yourhelp, ideas and time. The help and advice from Ashling were priceless, thank you! Also from all of you....first years, you made this book possible by coming to the best University. I hope your time here this year was all that you wished for. Last but not least, thank you to Billi-Jo.
You gave me someone to look up to and taught me that being a part of things and becoming a leader was important.

Have a great summer everyone and take care!! See you all next year!!

Hugs,
DA

Dryden Destroyers

Dryden

Dryden may not be seen at many of those basketball games, or even at movie night, but we certainly make our presence known. If Dryden were being presented an award I'd give it the 'most caring house award'. Dryden members are always there for each other be it for going to Mikes Mart in sub-zero temperatures for cigarettes, going out at night or just needing someone to talk to. If you're bored at 4 am just go to Dave's room, or Leeana & Julia's room, or even Laura & Lesley's room and you'll find someone to hang out with. If you need someone to drink with that is why Daryl is here – and Ian for that matter. Tanya is always one to talk to if you have some gossip. Sure we may not be as enthusiastic as Chris when it comes to Res sports, but we are here for each other. Don is always around if you need him to fix your computer and Keith will give you moral support when you are trying to quit smoking. Lindsay A. has provided us with many interesting bar stories to talk about, and then you can always go to Becca when you need a page written for the yearbook. Adolescent guys can be the worst at the best of times, but the Dryden guys are the best guys we could have hoped to live with. If the girls are having guy problems then they can just go to Lindsey W. and Heather E. and have a good boy bash with the we hate boys club. Even if someone is having a problem with someone else in the house we can talk about it with others. And when everyone is at the bar the Dryden clan sticks together. In the last seven short months we have grown into one big, predominantly happy, family. Nothing is sacred in this house – not even our underwear, which Leigh Anne may unwittingly steal in the middle of the night – that is when she isn't sleepwalking. First year university in Res is not going to be forgotten that easily because we have made it the most enjoyable year of our lives to date – as I'm sure everyone agrees. Even things that would be best left unsaid will stay with us forever, for better or for worse. So here are some of the funniest things I can remember about Dryden House – Brent drawing pictures in his own vomit at Kangus, and Adam And Daryl wrestling in the hallway wearing what can only be next to nothing, Leeana yelling at someone out of the cab window, and the Ketchup and Mustard metaphor regarding dominating tastes put forth by Laura. Graham and his bongos, Mike and his guitar. Brieanne and her – let's be serious – who can forget Brieanne! Chantelle wins the quirkiness prize hands down, just like Dannielle, Jessica and Christina win the joined at the hip prize. One thing is for damn sure – all you out there should wish that you'd been put in Dryden instead of all of you other houses cause we were the best house of 2000/2001. And Atikokan – WHO'S YOUR DADDY?

Immortalized Thoughts

Alas the semester is coming to a close and so ends another year in the Nipigon house. For the second year I have been given the honour to write the closing remarks for a great year and immortalize the memory that we have all shared, although admittedly it was after some considerable motivation. The other night, like many nights before, I was relaxing in the lounge, reminiscing on the good times that we have had in this house. It brought a smile to my face. In the beginning we all came as individuals, each one with something unique about them, something to share with everyone. Through these eight months we have been graced by the touch of each other's presence and have learned a little about our selves through them. In truth, this is the part of residence life that will forever stay with us. It is not something that can be read and understood, it is something that must be experienced. We all come to university to learn and read from books, but it is the experience that we will remember long after all the studying is done. And so it can be said that Nipigon house is the heart and soul of our university experience. It has been through Nipigon house that we have eaten, slept, loved, hated, and thus Lived. In ten or twenty years we will be able to look upon these following pages and remember. Maybe not the names, maybe not the dates, but we will remember the feeling. This is the feeling of living; living can only be achieved through experiences. Our experience in Nipigon has been a truly magical one. Thank you for the experiences.

Another year has passed and with it comes the end of another great year for res sports. This year we saw some intense match-ups between houses in such sports as soccer, ultimate frisbee, volleyball, ball hockey and basketball. Although competition between houses was at times fierce, everyone showed what true sportsmanship is all about. My main goals for this year were to increase house participation and bring people closer together, not only as a house, but also as a residence. I would like to thank the sports council and all the dedicated sports reps, without whom there would be no res sports. I would also like to give a special thanks to Tanya Yawney for all her hard work and dedication throughout the year. It has been another exciting year; I wish you all the best.

The best person to talk to about your problems, however the conversation would usually get changed to how well her dress matched the carpet in the office. She always lightened situations, and made you feel like you were really making a difference.

Norma Jean Newbold was our Residence Life Coordinator for the past 11 years. This year she has moved on the to be a great inspiration at Sir Sanford Flemming. We wish her the very best of luck in her pursuits, her presence here at Lakehead will be missed. Good Luck Norma Jean, you are one of the greatest people I have ever met. You have touched many of us on so many different levels.

One of the most unique individuals that one could ever meet. She was the best at making everything seem alright, even when there was total chaos taking place she was calm, cool and collected.
